

The Night Before School

Grades One-Five

Tw'as the night before school for a year like no other
We are finally back! The excitement- OH BROTHER!

The schools have been empty the halls have been sad
We've wanted to see all our kids just so bad.

We all will wear masks to keep our friends healthy.
We'll all wash our hands cause those germs can be stealthy.

Things might look less cheery, not so much on the walls
We won't have the carpets, or much stuff in the halls.

What's important is that we will all be together
We'll walk through each day though the hot and cold weather.

We'll work on our patience and remember to listen,
We all will adjust as we sweat and we glisten.

Each time I thought of you, my heart did tug,
Wanting to give you all one great big hug.

But we have to be careful and stay at 6 feet.
We'll think of some new and fun ways we can greet.

Now get your stuff ready, and get some good sleep
So tomorrow, out of your bed you can leap.

We'll see you on screens or we'll see you at school,
No matter what I promise, this year will be cool.
